

ABSTRACT

An aided design apparatus including data output means for outputting data of an attribute name associated with an attribute group of a part used for transporting a sheet along with three-dimensional shape data of the part.